

LEVI TRIMMER
DIES; INJURED
BY FALLING TREE

Levi Trimmer, 70, East Berlin, died in the Warner hospital this morning at 2:15 o'clock from shock following an accident Tuesday in which a tree he was cutting down fell on him. He received a fracture of the lower jaw, a compound fracture of the left leg and internal chest injuries.

He was born near York Springs, a son of the late Frederick and Lottie (Trostle) Trimmer. The deceased was a retired farmer and had lived in East Berlin for the last year and a half after having resided in York where he was a fireman for the York body Works company about 10 years ago.

Surviving are the following children: Mrs. Nerven Myers, near Hampton; Mrs. Jesse Krout, York R. D.; Mrs. Harry Fogle, and Paul B. Trimmer, both of Hanover; Nevin S. Trimmer, Biglerville R. D., and Mrs. Bertha Loss, Miss Florence Trimmer and Stewart Trimmer, all of York. Also surviving are 24 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services from the St. John's Lutheran church, Hampton, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by the Rev. Kenneth James. Interment in the adjoining cemetery.

Friends may call at the H. B. Bender and son funeral home Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Grace Thomas

Mrs. Grace Thomas, 57, Good-year, widow of Calvin O. Thomas, died in the Carlisle hospital Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock following a major operation. The deceased made her home with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Beam, Goodyear.

She was a daughter of Henry Wetherald and the late Mrs. Wetherald. Her husband died September 10, 1938. They formerly resided on Biglerville R. 2. The deceased was a member of the Foursquare Gospel church of Gettysburg.

In addition to her father she is survived by a son, Bruce, Baltimore; two daughters, Mrs. Beam, Goodyear, and Mrs. Stanley Hoffman, Huntingdon; three grandchildren; one brother, Benjamin Wetherald, Lincoln, Nebraska, and one sister, Mrs. John Bendix, Carlisle.

Funeral services from the Beam home Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock with further services at the Foursquare Gospel church, conducted by (Continued on Page Two)

SNOW FLURRIES
ARE FORECAST

(By the Associated Press) Cold weather, with snow flurries likely in eastern counties, was forecast today for Pennsylvania's Thanksgiving.

Temperatures will drop again tonight, the weather bureau reported, with Thursday about as cold as today.

Western Pennsylvania, where snow flurries are expected tonight, will have fair weather Thursday, the forecast said.

Other forecasts: New Jersey and Delaware: Mostly cloudy tonight and Thursday, with light snow in north portion tonight; not much change in temperature.

Maryland: Cloudy, with light snow in west and north portions this afternoon, ending early tonight; Thursday generally fair, with slowly rising temperature in east portion.

Snow in Mountains

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22 (AP)—Fog, melting snow and rain today hampered motorists bound on holiday trips in western Pennsylvania.

An inch and a half of snow was reported in the mountains east of Greensburg, where the Lincoln and William Penn highways have been cindered.

North of Pittsburgh, routes 8 and 19 were passable but slippery from light snow.

Clear weather was forecast for Thanksgiving day.

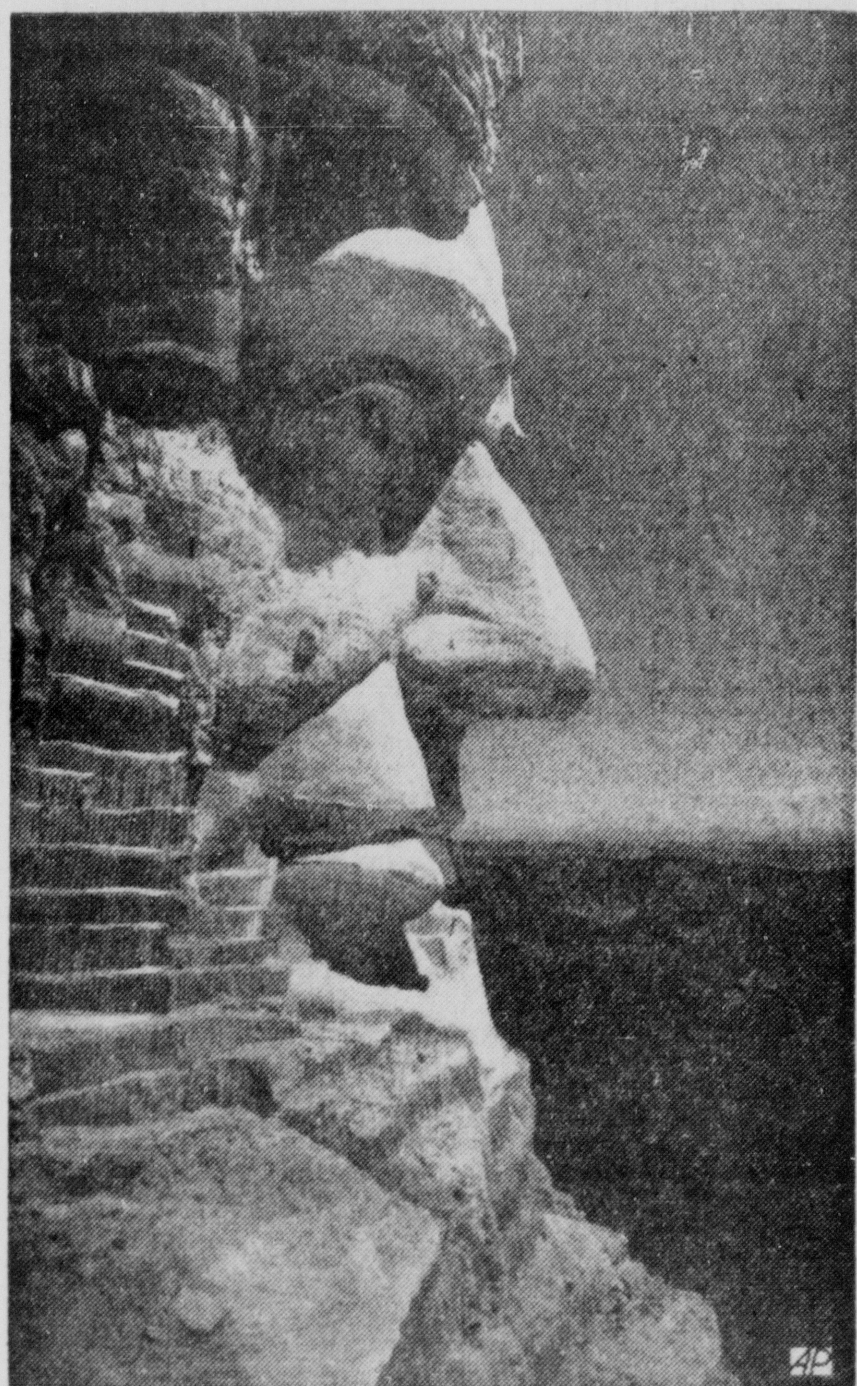

Snow Plows Used

Harrisburg, Nov. 22 (AP)—The snow plows came out for the first time this season as the Highways department today started cindering dangerous sections of the Lincoln and William Penn highways in Westmoreland county where an inch and a half of snow was reported.

The Department of Highways urged motorists to use caution.

UNION CHURCH
SERVICE STARTS
THURSDAY AT 9

The annual union Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Protestant churches of Gettysburg will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock in the Methodist church.

The Rev. D. Perry Bucke, pastor of the host church, will conduct the service and read the governor's Thanksgiving proclamation.

A Thanksgiving sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Seth C. Morrow, pastor of the Presbyterian church. He will use as his text, "What shall I render unto the Lord for all his benefits toward me?" The Methodist church choir will sing several numbers.

Following the annual custom, the offering will be turned over to the Civic Nursing association.

POULTRY SELLS
AT 35C A POUND

Live and dressed poultry held the center of attention at the special holiday session of the Farmers' market this morning although business did not come up to the expectations of the hucksters who occupied less than half of the building's stalls.

Thirty-five cents a pound was the flat price for all dressed poultry—chickens, turkeys, ducks or guineas. There was more variety in the prices for live birds. Twenty-five cents a pound was the top price being quoted for young turkey hens, while gobblers were offered at 22 cents. Live ducks were 15 and 18 cents a pound, while prices on chickens ranged from 18 to 22 cents a pound.

Other regular products to be needed for the Thanksgiving Day dinner table were offered at prices that showed no change from last week's levels. Potatoes could be had up to $1.25 a bushel and apples were priced up to $1 a bushel. Eggs were 34 cents a dozen and butter 30 cents a pound. Celery was marked 10 cents a bunch.

The next regular session of market will be held Saturday morning.

HONOR SOCIETY
TO ADMIT SIX

Six members of the senior class of Gettysburg high school will be inducted into membership of the National Honor society next Wednesday morning according to an announcement in today's issue of the "Maroon and White," school publication.

The new members to be inducted are Robert Deardorff, James Hafer, Robert Hartman, Helen Keefeauver, Janet Rebert and Mary Louise Wentz.

Dr. Thomas L. Cline, head of the English department of Gettysburg college, will be the guest speaker.

Thanksgiving

by

EDGAR GUEST

Dear Lord above accept our prayers
Of gratitude for gifts divine;
For strength to meet our daily cares,
For fruit of field and tree and vine,

But more especially today
For all the blessings peace bestows,
The songs, the mirth, the laughter gay
Our free and happy nation knows.

Lord God of hosts again we pause
From all the tasks which fill the year
To thank Thee that no bitter cause
Of hatred now divides us here.
In safety all our children play,
Untrifled our mothers wait
And at the ending of the day
Pass around the steaming dinner plate.

Lord God of all to Thee once more
Our grateful hearts and heads are bowed.
Guard us forever we implore
From growing arrogant and proud.
Instruct us in the nobler way
Which bids all ancient hatreds cease
And let us every night and day
Cherish the dream of lasting peace.

6 Nazi Planes Raid Islands
Near Scotland; No Damage

London, Nov. 22 (AP)—German planes today dropped bombs in a raid over the Shetland Islands off the northern coast of Scotland.

Air raid alarms in one of the island towns were followed quickly by the "all clear" signal.

Tracer bullets were fired as the planes circled, dropping bombs.

Six planes took part in the raid, but failed to score any hits, British sources announced.

Warfare between Great Britain and Germany entered an intensified phase as Britain planned an unrestricted blockade on German export trade in reprisal for recent shipping losses.

Aerial warfare also was active, with German planes reconnoitering the east coast for the third successive day. A German plane flew over villages along the mouth of the Thames in southeast England.

The plane which flew over the mouth of the Thames was beset by anti-aircraft fire and royal air force fighters. It dived and hedged-hopped to shake off the pursuers. No air raid warning was sounded.

The government announced that three German fliers who piloted a reconnaissance plane to the eastern outskirts of London Monday had been rescued from a rubber boat in the North Sea and taken prisoner by the British. Two were said to be badly wounded. On Tuesday a German plane was shot down over the east coast.

Hospital Report

Mrs. John Brown, Fairfield, submitted to a major operation at the Warner hospital Tuesday afternoon. Harvey Smith, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Smith, Broadway, was treated at the hospital Tuesday evening after being bitten by a dog.

Miss Nell Blocher, Gettysburg, has been admitted as a patient. Sherman Bigham Biglerville, was discharged as a patient today.

KIDDIES' PARTY
SET FOR DEC. 22

The annual appeal for contributions to the fund being raised by the Gettysburg fire company for the 1939 Kiddies' Christmas party was mailed today to hundreds of local residents by members of the company's special committee in charge of the affair.

The party will be held on Friday, December 22, at the engine house on East Middle street, it was announced today by S. Richard Elsenhart, chairman. The other members of the committee are Lawrence Oyer, D. C. Stallsmith, Paul Oyer and Wilbur J. Stallsmith.

Methodist Class
Honors Teacher

Members of Mrs. Annie Tate's class of the Methodist church honored their teacher at a birthday party held Tuesday evening at the church with about 50 members, husbands and guests in attendance. The party was in celebration of Mrs. Tate's seventy-sixth birthday anniversary.

After a brief business meeting by class members, the evening's program opened with group singing. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Ralph Purdy and Robert Berkheimer responded. There were piano selections by Robert Rau and Miss Margaret McMillan read a poem "A Thanksgiving Prayer" and the Rev. D. Perry Bucke, pastor, spoke.

In behalf of the members of the class Mrs. Lila Craig presented Mrs. Tate with a reading lamp and Mrs. Tate responded. Mrs. Tate also was presented with a birthday cake bearing candles. The program closed with group singing.

Then the group adjourned to the basement of the church where a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. The tables were decorated with tall white candles, forsythia and fall flowers. The committee in charge was Mrs. Florence Grindler and Mrs. D. Sandoe Kitzmiller.

SPECIAL SERVICE

A special Christian Science Thanksgiving service will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the rooms of the congregation, Baltimore street. The subject for the Lesson-Sermon will be "Thanksgiving."

115 Inspect Gettysburg
Housekeeping Aide Project

One hundred and fifteen visitors were counted Tuesday afternoon at the Gettysburg housekeeping aide project center in the Murphy building, Baltimore street, where open house was observed from 2 until 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Eva Hoffman, Gettysburg, the project unit supervisor, said that many of the visitors expressed surprise at the accomplishments of the project during the last six months since a local center was established. The aides have repaired and painted discarded furniture, canned fruit and made jellies to be used later in cooking classes in addition to their duties in the homes of needy families of the community where the mother was incapacitated for some reason.

Parts of the display that attracted most attention from the public were a baby bed made from a refrigerator crate, a child's play table and chairs made from orange crates and curtains made from cheesecloth.

Babies that the aides have cared for in various homes were to be seen at the center. Foods prepared by the aides were shown the visitors. A number of residents of this community who are interested in welfare work complimented Mrs. Hoffman and her helpers upon the work being done on the project among needy homes in the community. Mrs. Hoffman expressed her appreciation today to all persons who helped make the center's first "open house" a success.

Cut flowers and potted plants which were used in decorating the rooms for the occasion were provided by the Wayside Flower shop.

C. M. Wolf Awarded
Contract for Coal

Low bidder for the contract to furnish a carload of stove size hard coal to the county home, C. M. Wolf, Gettysburg, was given the order by the Adams county commissioners at their weekly meeting on Tuesday at the court house. The car of about 50 tons will cost the county $8.75 per ton.

TO OPEN MONDAY

A display of attractive and diversified lines of furniture for 1940 will be opened in the exhibition building on York street next Monday by the Gettysburg Furniture, Reaser Furniture, Peerless Furniture and Hanover Cabinet companies.

Continuing to feature the "tribond" furniture, the display which will continue for 10 days, will include suites with many new features and designs. There will be bedroom suites in different woods, periods and styling and include innovations in blanket compartments in the beds. Different styles in mirrors will be shown and there will be modern suites with and without hardware.

Dining room suites will be displayed in eighteenth century and modern designs. There will be breakfast room furniture, suites in maple and a large line of occasional pieces as part of the show.

GERMAN CARGO
SHIP CAUGHT

(By the Associated Press) Interception of a German cargo ship off Iceland's coast — while another German liner slipped out to sea to begin a career as a raider — marked Britain's new attempt to throttle Germany's export trade today.

Simultaneously, France joined her British ally in combatting what Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain described as the "ruthless brutality" of German attacks — both by torpedoes and mines — on merchant shipping.

An intensified phase of sea warfare was freely forecast both in London and Berlin, with Nazi officials describing Chamberlain's statement to commons as "a clumsy attempt (Continued on Page Seven)

Lodgemen Will Attend Service

Members of Battlefield council, No. 717, of the Order of Independent Americans of Gettysburg will attend the evening service at Christ Lutheran church on Sunday when the pastor, the Rev. Dwight F. Putman, will deliver a sermon appropriate to the Thanksgiving season. The lodgemen will meet at the council rooms on Baltimore street at 7:15 o'clock and go to the church in a body.

Members of the lodge are urged to attend. Members of their families have been invited to attend the service.

At the weekly lodge meeting on Monday evening arrangements were made for the annual banquet which will be held in the lodgerooms on Friday evening, December 8. The banquet will mark the forty-eighth anniversary of the founding of Battlefield council.

JURY CONVICTS
TWO COUNTAINS
FOR CONSPIRACY

Luther March, East Berlin cattle dealer, and George L. Gruver, Hamilton township dairy farmer, were found guilty in Adams county court today of a charge of conspiracy involving the switching of ear tags on cattle in Gruver's herd in August of 1938 just before the cattle were to submit to a tuberculin test by state veterinarians.

Both men will be summoned for sentence on Saturday morning. The maximum penalty provided by law is two years in jail or a fine of $500 or both for each defendant. The verdict was returned early this afternoon after the jury deliberated for one hour.

Both men repudiated on the witness stand parts of written statements produced by state officers which were claimed to have been taken from the defendants at the time of their arrest. In those statements both admitted they had taken over the switching of ear tags before the act was committed for the purpose of giving the Gruver herd a "clean bill of health" for the coming test. March and his father, Harry, also of East Berlin, had sold the cow in question to Gruver and the latter had looked to the dealer for a proper health chart.

Special Prosecutor

Private Joseph F. Bushey, of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police, was the prosecutor. He with Ralph Rinalducci, a special investigator from the state Department of Justice, headed the investigation that ended in today's convictions.

In the court trial which opened Tuesday and was finished shortly before noon today, neither defendant denied that ear tags had been changed illegally, both both denied having been a party to a conspiracy to defraud the state through their acts in the event the cattle should have been condemned as tuberculin. Last August Luther March paid a $100 fine on a summary conviction for the crime of actually making the change of tags.

Edgar K. Markley, Esq., served as special prosecutor in the case at the request of District Attorney John P. Butt who was unable to be in court on Tuesday afternoon. Richard A. Brown, Esq., and J. Francis Yake, Jr., Esq., were the defense attorneys.

This afternoon the trial of John M. Davis, Harrisburg, the last for this session of court opened.

Davis is charged by E. H. Markley, Gettysburg auto dealer, with false pretense and issuing a worthless check.

The Davis jury follows: H. L. Anthony, York Springs; Mervin G. Boyd, Gettysburg R. 1; Charles L. Criswell, York Springs; Mrs. Mae Grimm, Table Rock; Elbert Harbaugh, McKnightstown; John D. Herr, Littlestown R. 2; Walter A. Morelock, Gettysburg R. 5; Miss Mary O'Brien, McSherrytown; Luther Reaver, Gettysburg R. 2; John R. Rohr, Hanover R. 4; Allen Spangler, Aspers, and J. J. Todd, New Oxford R. 2.

The members of the jury that sat on the March-Gruver conspiracy case follow: Mrs. Bertha E. Becker, Conewago township; John Fidler, Biglerville R. D.; Mrs. Gladys Keefe, Littlestown; Luella Lerew, East Berlin; Mrs. Mollie Miller, York Springs; William Myers, Littlestown R. 2; Edna McKnight, New Oxford; Paul Reigle, Littlestown R. 2; John J. Rex, Aspers; Robert C. Spangler, Gettysburg R. 2; Chester Starnes, Gardners R. D., and Jacob Wildason, Hanover R. 4.

The court house will be closed on Thursday in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

The trial of cases in the court of common pleas will begin on Monday.

District Attorney Butt announced today that a plea of guilty has been signed by Maurice Bechtel who was charged by Borough Officer H. S. Roberts, of Littlestown, with drunk driving. Bechtel had been slated for trial at this session of court.

URGES CARE ON HOLIDAY TRIPS

Harrisburg, Nov. 22 (AP)—The heavy Thanksgiving traffic expected this week-end prompted an urgent appeal to motorists today to drive safely lest the holiday season end tragically.

"Thanksgiving last year was a drab and sorrowful period for a lot of people," said William J. Hamilton, secretary of Revenue and head of Pennsylvania's accident prevention campaign.

"For the five-day holiday period, 25 persons were killed and 1,092 injured in motor vehicle accidents throughout the state. A little care and sound judgment could have avoided every accident," he asserted.

TRIAL REVEALS DEAL IN STOCKS

Harrisburg, Nov. 22 (AP)—Spurgeon Bowser, a Kittanning gravel dealer, today told the jury trying David L. Lawrence democratic state chairman, that the Pioneer Materials company financed a $5,000 payment he said was made to Lawrence through a stock deal.

Bowser, who was president of the company at the time of gravel transactions with the state, gave the testimony on cross examination by Oliver K. Eaton, defending Lawrence on charges of blackmail, conspiracy and violation of the election laws.

Bowser testified that officials of the company including himself, "decided to pay Mr. Lawrence $5,000."

He said that on March 31, 1937, there was issued 125 shares of stock to himself. Three days later, Bowser went on, he turned back 51 shares.

"It was understood the stock would be exchanged back for $5,000 that we were going to give Mr. Lawrence," Bowser said.

Ledger sheets of the Pioneer company were produced to show the company's transactions with the state.

Mrs. Carrie Helen Ferguson, aged 78 years, died at 11:40 p. m. Monday, at Friend's Creek, Frederick county, Maryland, following a two-year illness of heart trouble. She had been confined to her bed for six weeks.

Mrs. Ferguson was born at Friend's Creek, the daughter of Simon and Sarah (Sanders) Miller and lived her entire life in that section.

She was a member of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church, Thurmont. Her husband, Ananias Ferguson, died in February, 1934.

Surviving are one son, Russell, at home; three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Souter, Emmitsburg, R. I.; Mrs. Charles Harmon, Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. George Holtz, Sabillasville; 16 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Jennie Hartmann, McKnightstown.

Funeral services Thursday at 8 a. m. at the Our Lady of Mt. Carmel church in charge of the Rev. Edward H. Roach. Burial will be made in St. Anthony's cemetery, Mt. St. Mary's college. Friends may call this evening at the home of Mrs. Holtz at Sabillasville.

Charges Himmler

Planned Bombing

Park, Nov. 22 (AP)—Otto Strasser, exiled former lieutenant of Adolf Hitler accused as the instigator of the Munich bomb plot against the German chancellor, charged in an interview today the Munich explosion was "organized" by his accuser—Heinrich Himmler, head of all German police.

"I have just received formal proof from a devoted party member that the project emanated with Himmler, himself," said Strasser, an exile from Germany, in an interview with Havas, French news agency.

"He declared to Rudolf Hess (deputy leader of the Nazi party and second in line of succession to Hitler) that he needed the attack in order to unleash a 'hate offensive' against England and in order to have a pretext which would permit him to deal with domestic adversaries, notably the black front."

"The 'black front' is the name given to an anti-Nazi organization understood to be active within Germany."

PROTEST NAZI TOYS

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—The non-sectarian Anti-Nazi league protested in a statement today against importation of German-made toys. The statement said more than 1,200 toys of them had arrived.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Barley, Altoona, arrived this afternoon to spend the Thanksgiving season with Mrs. Barley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Remmel, East Middle street.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Vanderwaart, Carlisle street, and daughter, Peggy, and son, Paul, are spending the Thanksgiving week-end with Mrs. Vanderwaart's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dieringer, Baltimore.

Mrs. J. E. Kissinger and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baum, all of Baltimore street, will spend Thanksgiving Day with Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Birely, Thurmont, Maryland.

Mrs. Henry W. A. Hanson and Mrs. Frank H. Kramer were visitors in Harrisburg Tuesday.

Miss Rose Stine, Glendale, California, is visiting Miss Eleanor Kalfbeisch, North Washington street.

Laws Against Handbills Held Unconstitutional

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Municipal ordinances prohibiting the distribution of handbills or circulars on the streets of Los Angeles, Milwaukee, and Worcester, Massachusetts, were held unconstitutional today by the Supreme court.

In addition, the tribunal declared invalid an Irvington, New Jersey, ordinance prohibiting the canvassing of homes for the sale of booklets without first obtaining a permit from the chief of police.

Among other actions, the court announced the appointment of Henry P. Chandler, Chicago attorney, to be director of the administrative office of the United States courts. He will supervise the federal circuit and district courts.

Justice Roberts delivered a committed opinion in the four civil rights cases. He said the ordinances violated freedom of speech.

Justice McReynolds dissented. Conviction of four persons under the Los Angeles, Milwaukee and Worcester ordinances was upheld by lower courts.

METTLER WON MEDALS—Courage that enabled her to conquer paralysis made Nellie Kaskons (above), 17, a swimming champion, and here she is at Pittsburgh with some of her medals. She overcame her physical handicap to become international 100-meter backstroke champion for her age-group. With that record of grit behind her, Miss Kaskons plans for the Olympics.

Blames Prison for Capone's Illness

Baltimore, Nov. 22 (AP)—The illness for which Al Capone is undergoing treatment here was laid today by his brother, John, of Villanova, Pa., to "his confinement in prison."

John Capone described the condition of the former Chicago gang leader as "good."

He said the patient's appetite was hearty, and that he displayed enthusiastic interest in current events and changes that took place while he was serving time at Alcatraz prison for violation of the federal income laws.

The brother declined to elaborate on his reference to Al's illness. In a previous announcement, federal prison authorities said the former Chicagoan was suffering from paresis, a brain disease.

John Capone said his brother does not leave his hospital bed, but plays dominoes with members of the family, reads magazines and smokes a little.

He plans to go to his luxurious estate at Palm Island, Florida, upon his discharge from the hospital but the length of time required for treatment still is undetermined, John said. He added that Al had "asked me to look around for some legitimate business he can enter."

BOY, 2, SCALDED BY WATER TO CLEAN TURKEY

Midland, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—Two-year-old Anthony Dapellina was fatally scalded Tuesday night in a tub of boiling water that had been heated to dress the Dapellina family's Thanksgiving Day turkey.

The lad and his six little brothers had gathered in the kitchen to watch their father clean the turkey, which lay still alive but tied on the kitchen floor.

Suddenly the bird fluttered and little Anthony, badly frightened, stumbled backwards and toppled into the water.

WOMEN OPPOSE ALIEN REGISTRATION

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was listed today among 40 prominent women signers of a letter opposing any registration of non-citizens as "registration."

The American committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born announced that the letter was addressed to the general federation of women's club in response to a report that the federation would favor such registration at its next convention. Dr. Mary Wooley, president emerita of Mount Holyoke college, invited Mrs. Roosevelt to sign the statement.

ITALIAN CUSTOM

Boston, Nov. 22 (AP)—Just an old Italian custom, Captain Peter Marino of the dragger Eddie and Lulu M. attested today when he arrived at the fish pier with a 30-pound-sturgeon which he claimed he kept alive, although out of the water since Tuesday, on a diet of wine and bread crumbs. Captain Marino said it had consumed a gallon and a half of wine. The fish brought $9 plus $2.80 for two pounds of roe for caviar. Captain Marino insisted it was not unusual to bring a fish home alive, if somewhat emaciated, back in Italy.

MORE FASCIST CHARGES

Rome, Nov. 22 (AP)—Premier Mussolini today carried his recent governmental housecleaning a step further by dropping all fascist party inspectors and assuming personally the task of appointing new ones.

LETTER DEPICTS KUHN AS 'ROMEO'

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn, bespectacled fuhrer of the German-American bund, blushed scarlet today when the prosecution depicted him as a shipboard Romeo and read a billet doux he wrote to his "heaven sent" woman friend, Mrs. Florence Camp.

Spectators tittered, while Kuhn's cheeks reddened and his eyes blazed with anger, as prosecutor Herman J. McCarthy read the letter at the bund leader's trial on larceny charges.

"Florence," it said, "I am terrible in love with you—I beg you to become my beloved wife—I will always be real true to you and will love you forever—can't be without you any more because I realize heaven did send you—and I never will forget that. (Signed) Fritz."

Kuhn, who already has a wife, had denied just a few seconds earlier that he proposed marriage to Mrs. Camp during an ocean cruise on the steamship Westernland.

"Mrs. Camp was too much of a lady to listen to proposals of marriage within four days on board," he said.

McCarthy then produced the note, which brought a protest from Kuhn that it was "all in fun."

"It was done the night of a ship party," Kuhn said. "Everybody does that sort of thing."

McCarthy's continued delving into the bundsfuhrer's romantic life finally impelled Judge James G. Wallace to question Kuhn himself in bald terms.

"Did you ever have a love affair with Mrs. Camp?" the court asked. Kuhn pulled back as though horrified. "No, I did not," he said. "Mrs. Camp is very much a lady. I am still on very friendly terms with her."

Earlier, the prosecution elicited testimony that Kuhn was a man of many aliases. Kuhn acknowledged that at various times he had been known as Fred Costan, Fred Kellar, Henry Larson and Frank Carson.

VERSATILE

Linden, Ala., Nov. 22 (AP)—Charles Rentz plays the piano, drives an automobile, uses a typewriter and an adding machine, and rolls his own cigarettes. What makes this unusual is—Rentz was born without arms below his elbows and without legs below his knees.

STOCK REPORT

New York, Nov. 22 (AP)—Trends were mixed in stock market dealings today. At a quiet opening gains of small fractions included Anaconda, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck and Chesapeake and Ohio. Among those to creep backward were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, New York Central, Western Union and Westinghouse Electric.

SHE WASN'T BUSY ENOUGH

Claremore, Okla. (AP) — A tall, gray-haired woman who found herself lonely after the death of her husband operates a free employment agency in her brick home here.

Dr. M. H. Gordon was a physician. After he died in 1935, his wife "missed the constant day and night ringing of the telephone." Their two sons were away in school.

"The business my husband left me didn't take up all my time, so I started this employment agency," she related.

She manages two dairy farms, a milk bottling plant and several business properties here.

"But they don't keep me busy enough," she laughed, "so I became a clearing house for people needing jobs and people needing someone to work. Most of those I have placed — and they run into the hundreds — have been in housework and similar positions."

And, she added, she's "never charged a cent for the services."

'BE HOME AT 9'

Atchison, Kas. (AP) — Glancing over the city ordinances, Police Chief W. C. Linville came across the old, almost forgotten, curfew law. He revived it for the Halloween period because "there's been too much devilry." The curfew ordinance says all children shall be at home by 9 p. m.

Dickinson Set for Bullets At Hershey on Thursday

Those who believe Gettysburg college will score an easy football victory over Dickinson when the old rivals tangle in the spacious Hershey stadium Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock are in for a distinct shock if reports from Carlisle are to be believed.

Coach Art Kahler, who has made a specialty of pointing for the games with Gettysburg, has high hopes of springing another surprise. Since taking over the coaching reigns at Dickinson five years ago, the Kahler-coached teams triumphed in three of four games.

In 1935 Dickinson pulled a big upset by defeating the favored Bulldogs 32-12. They followed this with a 21-13 victory in 1938 and a 7-0 triumph in 1938. Last year the Bulldogs got back into the winning groove with a 14-0 verdict in a game played in a blinding snow storm.

The Thanksgiving tussle will mark the 36th meeting between the teams in a rivalry which dates back to 1892. Gettysburg has a big margin in the series with 23 victories against 11 defeats, only one game ending in a tie, that a scoreless deadlock in 1931.

Dickinson's sophomore aggregation has won four games and lost as many. Victories were scored over Blue Ridge, Delaware, Susquehanna and Washington college while the Red Devils bowed to Washington and Jefferson, Roanoke, Albright and Western Maryland.

Fans who attend the game are certain to see a brilliant display of open attack which will feature passing, spread formations, reverses, tricks, etc. Both squads have added new plays to their repertoires which will be shown for the first time on Thursday.

Expect Throng

With favorable weather a capacity crowd is expected to fill the Hershey stadium for the Turkey Day classic. A special train will leave the Reading station here Thursday morning at 11:45 o'clock and will return one half hour after the end of the game.

The Dickinson college football squad will depart for Hershey following the light practice this afternoon and will spend the night at the scene of Thursday's battle.

The probable starting lineups will be:

Pos.	Dickinson	Gettysburg
L.T.	Supinski	Flinchbaugh
I.T.	Archambault	Ashburn
G.	Wilson	Smith
E.	Wagner	Levens
T.	Nagy	Hill
R.E.	Tyson	Yovelsin
G.B.	Morgan	A. Bender
L.H.	Zimmer	Hamilton
R.H.	Boger	Stock
P.B.	Wasilewski	Shoemaker

Davis-Elkins Will Oppose Mount "11" at Hagerstown Saturday

The game next Saturday at Hagerstown high school stadium between Davis and Elkins and Mount Saint Mary's will be a difficult one for the football analysts. It will be a contest featured by the punting and passing of Jud Hudson, of Davis and Elkins, with the big 6-foot 3-inch Boyd Howard on the receiving end, against the running ability of Bob Stevens, who is rated as the outstanding back of this section of the country. Stevens will be playing his last game for the Mount. Hudson and Howard, also seniors, have another game to go, but will be particularly primed for this game as scouts of the Red Skins and Pirates will be in attendance to look them over; together with three other senior players, all linemen, the 240 pounds tackle, John Ace Federovitch with his running mate, Captain Smith, and the star guard Jesse Kniley.

Augmenting the attack of Davis and Elkins will be Wayne Woolverton, the plunging back of Davis and Elkins, who has been the most consistent ball carrier on the squad, and whose 33 yard run put the fighting Senators ahead in their game with Long Island university.

The Mount's off tackle slants, short end runs, spinners and reverses are supplemented by the passing of Asip to either of the capable ends, DeBottis or Rogan, and the accurate out-of-bounds punting of Halfback Jimmy Moylan.

The defense of both teams is unusually strong with a slight advantage in favor of Davis and Elkins who held St. Bonaventure's to a nothing to nothing tie, while Mount Saint Mary's lost to the Bonnies by a seven to nothing score.

The game is a benefit game for the underprivileged children's fund of the Kiwanis club of Hagerstown.

NAMED CAPTAIN OF DICKINSON CAGERS

Howard L. Williams, of Plymouth, was elected captain of the 1939-40 Dickinson college basketball team this week at a meeting of the varsity lettermen from last season, it was announced by Coach Richard MacAndrews.

Williams, a former Plymouth high school athlete and a member of the senior class at Dickinson, has been one of the leading scorers on the Red Devil basketball team during the last two seasons.

Dickinson will inaugurate a 15-game schedule with Blue Ridge at Carlisle on December 8.

ST. JOSEPH'S THROUGH Philadelphia, Nov. 22 (AP)—St. Joseph's college and Catholic university have called off the football game they were scheduled to play next Sunday.

Pitt to Open With Ohio State in 1940

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22 (AP)—Athletic Director Jimmy Hagan of the University of Pittsburgh declared today replacing of West Virginia with Ohio State on the 1940 football schedule "is no indication Pitt is going into the Big Ten."

"We had a chance to book Ohio State so we dropped West Virginia to keep within the required eight games," he said.

Reports the Panthers were seeking a conference berth were bolstered by the possibility five Big Ten teams would be added to their schedules. Games are being considered tentatively with Indiana and another school for 1941. A series with Purdue and Minnesota already has been booked.

After opening with Ohio State, the Panthers will take on Missouri, Southern Methodist, Fordham, Nebraska, Carnegie Tech, Penn State and Duke.

COLLEGIATE TREND Springfield, Mass., Nov. 22 (AP)—Many college students are driven "to insanity or at least nervous breakdowns" because of over-emphasis on studies, at the expense of sports, in the opinion of Dr. John M. Harmon, director of athletics at Boston university. One way to prevent such nervous disorders, he said, was to establish higher physical education requirements in the colleges.

More than 100 countries offer more or less protection for inventions.

Frank was one of 17 passengers aboard the ship which inaugurated a passenger service between Philadelphia and South America.

WALLACE LISTS FEDERAL RATES FOR CORN LOANS

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today the government would make loans to farmers on surplus 1939-grown corn at the base rate of 57 cents a bushel.

Eligible for loans at this rate will be farmers in the mid-western commercial corn belt who did not plant in excess of this year's Agricultural Adjustment administration corn acreage allotments.

Farmers who planted in excess of such allotments will not be eligible.

The rate is the same as that provided in a similar loan program last year.

The commercial area comprises 586 major corn-producing counties in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Kansas, Nebraska, Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and South Dakota.

Elsewhere loans will be made at 75 per cent on the base rate, or 43 cents a bushel, to farmers who did not plant in excess of their A.A.A. soil-depleting acreage allotments.

The principal purpose of the loan program, officials said, was to bolster prices of the feed grain by helping farmers keep unneeded portions of this year's big crop off the market.

He's Building Something...Are You?

Remember the wagons and shanties you made as a kid...and the caves you dug? You played—but you worked at it. Seems unimportant now, but you built things—and in the building you enlarged your stature, your point of view. You grew into manhood with the spirit of youth.

If life still invites you to enjoy a wholesome balance of work and play, you've kept that spirit of youth. You greet each dawn as another privilege to build—not castles or caves—but business and friendships and reputation. When day's work is done, the companionship of family and friends brings you ample rewards.

Of course, Budweiser is only an incident in your daily life...but what is good living but a series of pleasant incidents? You who know the good things of life—know Budweiser.

Honor Memory of Lincoln's Speech: In the presence of an audience that filled the Presbyterian church, exercises commemorating the delivery of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address fifty-one years ago were held Thursday evening. In the gathering were fifty or more Gettysburg people who saw Lincoln at the time of his visit here.

The special event of the evening was the unveiling of three tablets of bronze on the pew occupied by Lincoln and John Burns at the service in the church which followed the cemetery dedication. Two little girls, Martha Bell and Katharine Hill lifted the drape which covered the tablets, presented by J. W. Johnston, of Rochester. The unveiling of the bronze tablet on the front of the church the gift of Colonel Cope, was done by James B. Aumen at the conclusion of the services.

Rev. J. B. Baker offered prayer and Dr. Billheimer told of the visit of Lincoln and John Burns to the church. A poem was read by Dr. Sanders and Judge Swope read a brief note from Colonel Cope. The unveiling and presentation followed, with the acceptance made by Rev. F. E. Taylor, pastor of the church.

Judge McClean told many stories of the life and character of John Burns. Among those who spoke were William H. Tipton, William A. McIlhenny, Theodore McAllister, John E. Pitzer and Miss Agnes McCleary, Colonel James K. P. Scott read Dr. Allen's poem on "John Burns."

The Sons of Veterans held exercises later in the evening at the Post Room and had as their guests members of the Post and the Ladies' Auxiliary. John D. Keith, Esq., presided and addresses were made by Rev. J. B. Baker, Dr. T. C. Billheimer, Colonel J. K. P. Scott, William A. McIlhenny and Theodore McAllister. J. C. Williams, Esq., read Lincoln's address. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

MONUMENT
When from the world I turn away
I hope in truth that all can say,
He never did or spoke the thing
That caused another suffering.

When done with life, ere I depart
Denied much wisdom, skill or art
God grant that this my boast can be:
None suffered loss or pain by me.

When life's last boundary I reach,
Exhausted strength and done with speech,
I hope about my patch of earth
A flower or two shall tell my worth.
A hand remembered once outstretched
Giving the help it gladly fetched;
A life-time filled with common stuff,
Just this — is monument enough.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION GETS UNDERWAY
Philadelphia, Nov. 23 (AP).—The Antarctic exploration flagship North Star, laden with the newest equipment of science, sailed to sea out of the Delaware breakwater today, bound for Panama.

There the North Star will meet the Bear, second ship of the expedition, and later take aboard Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

The North Star slipped away from the Philadelphia Navy yard Tuesday just before dusk, in a snow flurry.

The 70 crew members, bundled in heavy clothing, waved farewell to friends and relatives while the expedition's pack of 72 dogs yelped with delight at the cold weather.

DROPPED HIS CUE
Pittsburgh, Nov. 22 (AP).—Raymond Massey has been "Abe Lincoln in Illinois" for 18 months but he still doesn't know what Lincoln said about democracy.

He told 100 women at a luncheon: "Lincoln didn't use clichés. For instance, in those lines on democracy he says: 'Democracy is . . .'"

Massey hesitated, rubbed his cheek with one hand, teetered on his heels. He couldn't remember the rest of the lines he has repeated hundreds of times.

TREED BY 4 BEARS
Eupatorium, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP).—If you doubt the presence of bears in this neck of the woods, ask G. W. McLaughlin, of Keating Summit, and Harry Redkey, of Philadelphia.

They came upon four bears while separated from their hunting companions. McLaughlin fired but missed. Then both men took to a tree. The bears eventually wandered away.

Overcrowding in the Campo Santo cemetery in Genoa, Italy, resulted in the erection of rows of marble tombs on the flat roof of its great public mausoleum.

SELECTING THE SIGNIFICANT

NOT until we have passed out of the early stages of youth do we realize how much of youth we have missed. Youth wastes so much. It is uncaring. It has learned no measurement of life's values.

There comes a time, however, when the significant things of life begin to loom in all their importance and beauty. The boy who thought that he would like to be a policeman or an engineer, decides that he wants to be a teacher, or a merchant prince! His selective capacity begins to bloom. He sees worth in little things—much of which has everything to do with the way in which he looks out upon life.

That which appears significant to one person may not appear as such to another. Our unique nature makes the decision. Fabre devoted his entire life to the studying of insect life, and to him the newest discovery in the habit of a minute bug, was significant. He lived a happy life because he did the thing that gave him the most happiness, and in so doing enriched all knowledge in the field of nature.

That is significant to you which most contributes to the satisfying of your dreams, your aspirations, and your sense of values.

We cannot hope to expect that everyone will agree with our selection of what is significant to us. That is our God-given right—something that no one can take from us.

That teacher who gives to his students knowledge of life that is not contained in the text-books, or who teaches the significance of character, as he helps to enrich the minds of those under his instruction, does the significant thing in teaching, which sets him apart, and which endears him to everyone who goes out into the larger class-room of life itself.

Success in its sincerest sense is not material, but spiritual. It's something that is achieved inside of one. What a multitude of people there are in this world with significant hearts—and how they draw us to them!

THE CREEPING MAN

YESTERDAY: The keys to the poison cabinet were to be left with Duncan, testifies Mrs. Murchison. Duncan throws a bombshell by refusing to give evidence because this case is bound up with something else—the murder of his brother.

Chapter 40 SUICIDE?

MICHAEL shut the garage door that evening, and turned to go into the house. He heard a shout from behind him, and turned. Gordon was in his own yard wrestling with his tent pole, which had evidently fallen down.

"Can you give me a hand, Mr. Forrester?" he asked. "I'm in a kind of a mix up."

Michael vaulted lightly over the hedge, and went up to the tent. Gordon crawled inside the collapsed canvas, and pushed up on the pole. Michael leaned over and pulled at the canvas, which seemed to be caught together somewhere down below.

There was quite an opening in the canvas at the top of the pole. Gordon's face was just beneath it. "It's old Mrs. Devoe," he said in a low tone. "I think the old dame's gone crazy. She came home after the inquest's afternoon, and went out for a walk all by herself. She never does no walking, you could tell that to look at her. She went out along the path in the woods, and she acted like she didn't hardly know what she was doing."

"What do you mean?" Michael asked.

"Oh, rubbing her hands together, and putting them over her face, and moaning every once in a while. I could hear her clear out in the brush where I was crawling along beside her. And after a while she just flopped down on her knees right there in the woods, and she had her hands over her face. And then she took them off and crossed herself. So I guess she was praying. She stayed there an awful long time. I got a cramp in my knee."

"And then?"

"Oh, she just got up and come home again. You know what I think?" Gordon's blue eyes shone fiercely through the aperture. "I think she knows he did it, and it's driving her crazy, 'cause she thinks they'll hang him."

"Gordon! I shall have to soak you head in a mixture of vinegar and goose grease if you . . . Oh, good evening, Mr. Deane."

"Good evening. Giving the boy a hand?"

"Yes. I think he's got it now, haven't you, Gordon?"

"Yep. Get off the canvas so's I can pull it up, will you?"

"Gordon!" his father said sternly. "That is no way to speak to Mr. Forrester."

There was no answer from beneath the canvas. Michael smiled. "It's not so easy to be polite when someone's stepping on your leg," he murmured. "I think that's what I was doing."

"Well, he's a very impolite child anyway. Very." Mr. Deane took off his glasses and polished them. The eyes beneath were small, with pupils the size of pin points. He peered at Michael, near-sightedly.

"This is a horrible state of affairs, Mr. Forrester," he said.

"It seems to be," Michael moved away from the canvas with the upheaval taking place beneath it. Gordon crawled out and started tying down the ropes.

"What do you think of it?" Deane put on his glasses again and put his handkerchief away.

Michael kicked at a tent peg. "To tell you the truth, I am completely bewildered."

Trembling Hands
Deane frowned. "I heard today that you were out here for the express purpose of investigating Dr. Murchison's disappearance," he said sharply. "I cannot understand why I was not informed of that. It is a great surprise, to put it mildly, to discover that one's neighbor and colleague has disappeared—that the police are working on the case—that in all probability he has been murdered, and that one is told nothing."

"There isn't very much to tell," Michael said apologetically.

"I gather that. What progress, may I ask, have you made on the case?"

"Almost none," Michael replied sadly. He looked away over the tops of the trees. "It's all very confusing. Their family affairs seem to be in a terrible state. A stranger finds great difficulty in understanding them."

"You think this disappearance of Dr. Murchison has come about through these family differences?" Michael looked straight at him.

"What else can I think? You heard the evidence this afternoon."

"Yes," Mr. Deane cleared his throat nervously. "Yes, indeed. I feel sure that you are right. They are not a pleasant family. Dr. Murchison himself was most objectionable person—most objectionable. He cleaved and unclenched his hands. 'Most objectionable,' he repeated again. 'Anyone would have found it irritating to live with him. I wonder that this contrivance did not arise sooner.'"

"Have you any definite suggestions to offer, Mr. Deane?"

He hesitated the merest second. His hands, Michael noticed, were shaking. What was it James had said? "When he gets excited, his hands shake."

him. "Is your mother missing or is she not?"

"She is."

Michael stepped back into the hall, and lifted the receiver. His call completed, he said to Devoe, "Will you come in and wait? As I told you, I will not venture one step outside my own gate until they come."

Without a word Devoe crossed the threshold and sat in the chair Michael indicated. It was only a matter of minutes until the police car slid to a stop at the front door, and six stalwart men in blue stepped out. At the back of the garden, in the shadows, two of their fellows regarded them intently, but did not disclose their whereabouts. It was their job to watch the Forrester house, and Michael went out into the wood with the other men, secure in the knowledge that Tuck and Bunny were well guarded.

The men spread out fanwise, searching the wood for the missing woman. Their flashlights flickered through the trees like great glow-worms, and for half an hour their whistles answered one another at short intervals. Then there was one long blast on a whistle, and thereafter silence.

For they had found her. Not far up-stream from Gordon's hidden cave, she lay quietly in the shadows, and did not answer when the man who stumbled over her gave a startled exclamation.

The burly officer who knelt beside her touched her with careful hands. He saw the pearl handle of the penknife protruding from the cold left hand over her heart, but he did not touch it.

"Suicide," he said calmly.

Michael turned sharply to the shivering man beside him. In the beam from the flashlight Jared Devoe was pallid and the great drops on his forehead looked like beads.

Chapter 41 Return To Life

Tuck was sitting up in bed drinking the cocoa Bunny had just brought her. Michael, in dressing gown and slippers, was stalking restlessly about the room, and Bunny was perched on the foot of Tuck's bed, pale and quiet.

Bunny was not talking a great deal these terrible days. There was so little to say that did not touch on the mystery; so little that did not remind her of Michael's warning. The world seemed rather a terrible, unfriendly, deceiving place.

"Michael," Tuck set down her cup and snuggled down into her pillows. "Michael, why did she do it?"

He did not answer for a minute. Then he turned and faced her, leaning over the foot of his own bed.

"You mean," he said slowly, "if she had done it, why would she have done it?"

Tuck gasped. "Murder?" she asked in a breathless whisper.

"Any observant person who has lived near Mrs. Devoe for a number of years would know she was left handed. Easiest thing in the world to drape that left hand around the knife in her heart."

"But the knife itself! It was her own, out of her handbag. Why should she have been carrying it?"

"I always have a penknife in my handbag," Bunny said in her low voice, after a minute. She was thinking it over.

"Yes. And the point is . . . the blade isn't over two inches long. Pretty hard to stab yourself with a blade two inches long, I should imagine."

"Will you tell me why she did it?" Tuck said after a minute or two. Her voice was very small and tired.

Michael drew a deep breath and straightened his shoulders. "I'll tell you a story," he said, "and you can draw your own conclusions."

"It's a story of the necklace," he went on. "I'll tell it briefly. It began in Williston, six years ago. At the time, a very wealthy woman had as her maid a pretty French girl whose name was Marie Duval. The girl . . ."

Tuck gasped weakly.

"The girl seemed thoroughly trustworthy, although she was much too fond of the men to please her mistress entirely. One of her particular admirers was the mistress' nephew who was at the time attending the University there. The second—and the two men did not know of each other, remember that—was another student, a younger fellow, to whom she paid little attention, although he seems to have been quite mad about her. I do not know the details of their acquaintance."

The older chap had no prospects of inheriting money, although his aunt was wealthy, and if the younger had any money he kept it to himself for some time.

"It is possible that it did not seem important to him, since he was deeply interested in science and not in money or commerce."

The mistress was rather a connoisseur of jewels, and so the maid handled many of them. It must have been a temptation to a nature such as hers; one realizes that. She finally succumbed to that temptation. However, she did not steal from her mistress; she took a diamond necklace which she was supposed to be returning to a shop. It was a week or two before the theft was discovered, the mistress and the jeweler each thinking the other had the necklace. By this time the girl had repented of her action, and would have given up the jewels, perhaps, save that it meant a confession of what she had done. When the questioning began she was in an agony of apprehension, denying that she had not returned the jewels. This was obviously untrue, and drastic steps were about to be taken when to the tremendous surprise of all concerned, the girl paid for the diamonds, announced that she was married and left her position. She had told the younger of the two men to whom I have referred to her trouble, and he had offered to marry her and pay for the jewels. He had had a recent inheritance of some thing over fifty thousand dollars.

Blank Astonishment

"Of course you know of whom I am speaking. Marie Duval married Edgar Murchison to save herself from prison. The unfortunate part of the matter," said Michael dryly, "was that she had already married Jared Devoe."

If he expected blank astonishment from his audience, he got it. Neither girl could speak.

Michael lit a cigarette. "So," he went on after a pause, "you get the situation. Marie is apparently still in love with her own husband. She engineered rather cleverly the business of getting him here into this University, through passing him off as her cousin."

They are not unlike in appearance, although there is not the slightest relationship. He is quite mad about her too, I think, although he may be tiring of her just a bit. Still, those letters didn't sound as if he were, did they?"

"Letters?"

"In the box, honey. The warm, friendly ones."

"Michael Bruce Forrester! How long have you known that?"

"Oh, quite a while."

Bunny laughed suddenly. "I thought perhaps they were one of the unspeakable things Duncan was responsible for," she said.

"No," he blew a smoke ring. "So you see," he went on, "why Mrs. Devoe would have committed suicide if she had committed it. Which she didn't."

"What makes you so sure she didn't, Michael?"

"The same thing that explains why she might have. Her temperament and her religion. She was a very moody, serious minded, earnest Christian woman. She has been wringing her hands and praying for a long time now, worrying herself sick over the sins of her only child. But suicide in her eyes must have been a greater sin than all; she wouldn't pile one sin on another. No. But it must have been rather awful for her . . . for, you see," Michael said quietly, "she didn't know into what black depths Devoe and his wife had been led in order to conceal their relationship."

"Then, if it isn't suicide, Michael—why was she murdered? Because she knew too much? Like Miss Lissey? Old Mrs. Devoe? Is what you have told us the thing—Bunny's eyes widened.

Michael drew a deep breath. "That's a question I should like to be able to answer," he said despondently.

The inquest, followed so closely by old Mrs. Devoe's death, marked the end of the period of seeming inaction for Michael. He was away from home most of the time, on mysterious errands which he did not explain. One of these errands was in answer to a telephone call from the Veterans' Hospital—a call which asked him to come to the hospital immediately, as one of the patients wanted to see him.

As Michael knew it must be, it was Smith. He was pitifully thin and pale. As they came in he jumped up and gazed at them frantically. His eyes were burning with an insane light.

"It's you!" he choked out.

"Yes," Michael said cheerfully. "What can I do for you, old man?"

'With My Own Eyes'

Smith relaxed a little. He sank back into the pillows, but his hands still clawed nervously at the edge of the blankets. He looked at the doctor. "I got to talk to him alone," he said.

The doctor went out and shut the door quietly. Smith dropped his voice to an accusing whisper.

"You said as how I didn't need to be afraid of him no longer," he said hoarsely. "You said as how he was gone away, and wouldn't never come back. You said as I was safe. Didn't you? Didn't you?"

"Yes."

"Well, you got that paper, ain't you? Can't you do something for me? Can't you get him locked up?"

"Locked up?" Michael repeated in amazement.

"He'll be hangin' around here in a day or two, like as not. Send in' for me, that's what he'll be doin'." I won't go. I tell you, I won't go. Nothing on earth can make me go."

"Listen," said Michael tersely. "Act like a man will you? You're acting like a damned rabbit."

Smith wiped the sweat from his face. "You ain't never been shell-shocked," he mumbled.

"No. I don't know what it's like. But talk sense, anyway. I told you the other day you were safe. Safe as anything on God's earth could make you—from Murchison. He's dead, man."

Smith stared at him. His eyes were starting from his head. "Dead?" he whispered. "Dead! Didn't I see him with my own eyes no later than yesterday?"

"What!"

"It's true! I might have known that devil had you fooled. He's too smart. Dead! I was in a store, way on the other side of town. University folks don't go over there. He's hidin', I say. God knows what for. He come in the store, and I saw him coming. I got down behind a counter quick. He never saw me at all. But I saw him, the devil! Dead! Not on your life, he isn't dead."

"Just a minute," said Michael quietly. "You're not doing yourself any good. You say you saw him yesterday. Are you sure you're not mistaken?"

"I am not. It's Murchison. I saw him plain."

"Describe him."

"Well—he looked just the same as ever except he had on a coat. One of them dusty looking raincoats it was, and a fawn hat. He's tall . . . clean shaved, dark. What else is there?"

"You'd swear on the Bible that it was Edgar Murchison?"

"I would."

"What kind of a store?" Michael asked after a moment.

F.D.R. FAMILY WILL OBSERVE 2 THANKSGIVINGS

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—About half the country will observe Thanksgiving day Thursday, but the confusion which followed President Roosevelt's decision to advance the customary date has extended right into his own family.

The chief executive and the first lady will have their turkey dinner Thursday night at the Warm Springs, Georgia, foundation for infantile paralysis patients. Some of their children, however, will observe both Thursday's holiday and the one proclaimed by governors in some states for November 30.

James Roosevelt, the President's eldest son, will celebrate in New York Thursday and then go to Massachusetts, which has selected the traditional last Thursday in November. Mr. and Mrs. John Roosevelt also will have their turkey at Nahant, Massachusetts, on the "second Thanksgiving."

The governor of Texas proclaimed both Thursdays as a holiday, so Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt will have two dinners at their ranch near Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., will have turkey Thursday at their cottage in Charlottesville, Virginia, but next week they will have guests for Thanksgiving recess of the University of Virginia.

The President's daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, of Seattle, will follow her father's example and observe only the "first Thanksgiving."

The last time a President—and he was a republican—broke the Lincoln tradition of having Thanksgiving on November's last Thursday, no calendar manufacturers complained, no football schedules were upset, no Christmas business boom was anticipated.

President Grant just said that, whereas the country had been prosperous and free of pestilence and peaceful, he would "recommend that Thursday, the 18th day of November next, be observed" as a day of Thanksgiving in 1869.

Although Grant waited until October 8 to make his proclamation, in contrast to President Roosevelt's August announcement, no one beefed.

From 1621, the date of the first Thanksgiving, until Grant's time, the holiday had been celebrated in eight of the 12 months.

Turkey-Tasters Take Time Out For Thanksgiving

Washington, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Agriculture department's tireless turkey-tasters are taking a holiday from their work Thursday and are going to stay at home—to eat turkey.

For weeks they have been at their job which, in the opinion of many persons, is one of the easiest and nicest in the nation.

All they have to do, you say, is just sit there and eat turkey. They don't even have to do the carving. At a glance, the toughest part of the task is that they have to eat dark meat, too.

As in most things, however, there's more to it than meets the eye. The turkey-tasters are there for a serious purpose.

At the department's experimental farm near Washington, they have streamlined his shape to meet apartment house stoves, and they have been working for an even better flavor.

Long experiments have been con-

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ducted in breeding and cross-breeding. Tests have been made on turkey diets. Realizing that the proof of the turkey is still in the taste, they need people to perform the taste-tests.

The turkey-tasters don't spend eight hours a day downing turkey. Oh, no! They have other jobs to do.

Sometimes the turkey they eat doesn't taste good.

The turkey tasters eat at their jobs is prepared by the bureau of home economics, which boasts the finest cooks in the country. Consequently, the wives of the turkey-tasters have a tough problem at Thanksgiving.

Nevertheless, the majority are having turkey Thursday.

MUNICH BOMB CASE SOLVED, GERMANS SAY

Berlin, Nov. 22 (AP)—The war among secret agents leaped into unaccustomed limelight today with the gestapo's announcement that a Munich plotter had confessed the November 8 attempt on Adolf Hitler's life, and that two British operatives had been seized.

Heinrich Himmler, chief of the secret police, said George Elser, 36-year-old resident of Munich, planned a time bomb in the Nazi beer cellar shrine there at the instigation of Otto Strasser, long-time Hitler foe, and with funds furnished by Great Britain.

He did not link the two captive Britons specifically with the blast, but accused them of organizing plots in Germany.

A one-time Nazi lieutenant, Strasser left Germany after being deprived of citizenship in 1934, the same year his brother Gregor was killed in the "blood purge." He heads the "black front," opposing Hitler's regime, and has operated from various countries.

Himmler said that in trying to reach Switzerland, Elser was caught the very night of the explosion, which killed eight persons and which Hitler escaped by 11 minutes.

Report Confession
Elser confessed November 14, he said, and several accomplices were arrested, but the information was kept secret until Tuesday night to expedite other seizures. Himmler appealed to all citizens for further information regarding Elser or former associates.

He did not mention the government's offer of rewards totalling 900,000 marks ($630,000) for arrest of the Munich plotters, and authorities declined to comment on it.

Reporting another angle of the undercover war-within-war of rival secret services, Himmler said a "Captain Stevens" and a "Mr. Best" of the British intelligence were captured November 9 while attempting to enter Germany from Venloo, the Netherlands.

He accused the British of being duped by German agents posing as disgruntled officers. He said that in attempting to organize plots against the reich, they supplied radio equipment with which the Germans kept up deceptive communications until Tuesday.

In London, the British foreign office denied any agent of the British government had "any knowledge" of a German "described as having placed a bomb in the Munich cellar."

Britain Denies Connections
(The foreign office said there was "no connection" between the bombing and "the kidnapping of two British subjects on the German-Dutch frontier.")

Elser, blamed by the gestapo for actually building the bomb, was said to have started machinations in September and October, 1938, and to have begun putting his plans together in August, 1939.

The gestapo communique charged that the British intelligence headquarters for western Europe was located at the Hague, Netherlands capital.

The British, it said, "sought to establish contact with what were surmised to be revolutionary organizations" in Germany, having been led to believe from German emigre's stories of incipient revolution in the reich.

DISCORDANT NOTE

Newark, N. J.—Patrolman Raymond Howler shattered the harmony of the Newark police band. Rehearsing for a concert, the band practiced an extra hour. When 15 of the musicians went to their cars they found them ticked by Patrolman Howler for overtime parking.

OPPORTUNISTS

St. Louis—Mayor Dickmann's efforts to inject realism into a safety campaign by placing wrecked automobiles at six street intersections may necessitate an anti-theft campaign. Thieves have removed wheels, horns and other accessories from several of the cars.

STAB IN THE DARK

Kansas City—Ballard M. Collins, rested his elbow on the arm of his movie seat. His neighbor shoved it off, struck Collins in the chest and departed. A few minutes later Collins noticed his shirt was wet. He discovered he had been stabbed twice. He was treated in a doctor's office.

IT'S OKAY NOW

Omaha, Neb.—An Omaha cleaning concern received a letter and $12.15. It read: "Several years ago I collected from you the enclosed $12.15 for what I then considered a damaged rug. I no longer feel that way about it, so am returning the same."

THREE LITTLE PIGGIES

Duncan, Okla.—Highway Patrolman Shipman Ballard was forced into a ditch. He gave chase, stopped the other car. In the front seat he found a happily inebriated man and woman. In the back seat he found three pigs. The couple went to jail—but Ballard has to take care of the pigs.

SEVEN BUCKS, NET

Des Moines, Ia.—Henry D. Hudson enjoyed paying a $3 traffic fine because he was really $7 ahead. "I didn't see the school stop sign," he said, "but just as the traffic officer drove away after giving me the summons, I saw a $10 bill lying in the street beside the car." The patrolman said he had not lost any money.

Kills Self After

Fatally Wounding Estranged Wife

Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—The body of J. Earl Waughtel, 45, sought by police in the fatal shooting of his wife Monday, was found by two hunters today in Kiwanis park, two miles southeast of this city.

Police Chief William Sullenberger said Waughtel had rigged up a shot gun to a wire fence in such a manner that a blast of shot was sent through his heart.

The hunters, T. Andrew Stone and R. P. McCormey, both of Lancaster, told Sullenberger the gun was attached to a fence post with the wire against the trigger.

The W.P.A. worker had been sought since Monday when a warrant was issued charging him with shooting his wife, Gertrude, 38, on a Lancaster street. The Waughtels, who have one daughter, Eva, 13, had been estranged.

Mrs. Waughtel was shot as she answered a telephone call promising her a job. A man fired from a passing automobile.

At the hospital she told police before she died that her husband had fired the shot.

Mrs. Waughtel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Berwager, reside about six miles south of Hanover.

Town Has Officers

Who Lack Authority

Peekskill, N. Y., Nov. 22 (AP)—Somebody forgot to put up six signs, so the village of Peekskill can't secede from itself and become a city for at least another year.

Meanwhile, it has a complete slate of office-less city officers, wondering what to do.

The thriving suburb of New York city (population 17,700) voted itself out of the town of Cortland, of which it constitutes the majority, and elected the city officers two weeks ago.

But the state court of appeals shattered Peekskill's dream Tuesday by jettisoning the whole business on the ground the election had not been legally advertised.

Everybody in town knew about the election long in advance, the court acknowledged, and the local papers carried reams of information on it, but somebody forgot to post six public, formal notices in accordance with village law.

"DEBT" PAID

New Providence, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Zion Reformed church has received a $150 donation which an elderly couple, now dead, felt they owed. A note left by the late Mrs. Harvey Reese explained she and her husband had been forced to curtail their financial aid to the church because of illness. The couple's four sons, contributing equal shares, settled the "debt."

Fifteen thousand militiamen had to be called out to suppress the whiskey insurrection which broke out in western Pennsylvania when the authorities attempted to end illicit distillation.

BRITISH RULE ON NEUTRALS STIRS BELGIUM

Antwerp, Belgium, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Belgian government, a foreign office spokesman said today, takes a serious view of British Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement that neutral ships will be halted and searched for German exports.

Stopping of neutral ships would raise Belgium shipping rates and living costs and reduce Antwerp traffic, this official said.

Shippers, expressing concern over the announcement, said that about one-third of Belgium's shipping trade is in German goods.

Dutch Sailings Cancelled
Amsterdam, Nov. 22 (AP)—Netherlands ship owners, on advice of their government, today cancelled all sailings from Dutch ports.

No explanation was given the step followed announcement by the British Tuesday that German export cargoes on neutral vessels were subject to seizure.

DESPERADO CONVICTED

Chicago, Nov. 22 (AP)—A federal court jury convicted Jack Russell, 39, Oklahoma desperado, of kidnapping and killing William Scott Hamilton, 23, Arkansas City, Kansas salesman, and recommended the death penalty today. The jury reached its verdict after 8 hours and 33 minutes of deliberation.

Gets 10 Years for Death in Dog Dispute

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 22 (AP)—A farmer's affection for a dog did not justify his killing a neighbor who wanted to tie a can to the mongrel's tail, the state supreme court decided today.

The court affirmed a 10-year prison sentence given James Evans, farmer, for fatally stabbing Manuel Noble, a neighbor, last year. The stabbing followed Noble's suggestion the two farm youths "tin can" a dog.

"The dog was of no particular breeding or commercial value," the court's opinion said. "In this connection we are reminded of the words of a Missouri song:

"Makes no difference if he is a houn'
"You gotta stop kickin' my dog aroun'."

Still, the court held, Evans knew right from wrong, and was without justification in his attack on Noble.

EDITOR SUSPENDED: PAPER TO CONTINUE

New Wilmington, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—Publication of the Holcad, Westminster college student newspaper, was assured today by a vote of the staff to continue at their posts during the two weeks' suspension of editor Mike Robbe.

Dean M. R. Kelo suspended Robbe for three weeks because of an editorial concerning a point system restricting students in extra-curricular activities but later reduced the suspension after Robbe apologized.

Let us be THANKFUL every day of the year!
Since that first Thanksgiving Day 318 years ago, this country has traveled a long road of progress. The same blessings for which this holiday was first celebrated—freedom and liberty, a land of opportunity, an even chance to succeed—are still ours today. In addition to expressing thankfulness for personal reasons, let us be thankful on Thanksgiving Day, and every day of the year, that we are a part of the great nation that grew from that pioneer start made by the Pilgrims back in 1620.
In observance of Thanksgiving, this bank will transact no business on Thursday, November 23, 1939.

GERMAN CARGO SHIP CAUGHT

to give the cloak of morality to a new form of piracy.

The allies plan to confiscate all maritime cargoes destined for Germany, it was said, is certain to evoke German counter measures.

Repercussions began early. The Belgian government said it took "a serious view" of the announcement, pointing out that the stopping of neutral ships would raise Belgium's shipping rates and living costs.

In Washington, acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles told reporters Great Britain had been notified that the United States did not endorse any principle involving interference with genuinely neutral trade.

The first seizure under the new blockade, as announced by the British admiralty, was the 4,110-ton German freighter Bertha Flisser.

The admiralty said the freighter's crew started to sink the ship as a British warship intercepted it. A dispatch from Reykjavik, Iceland, indicated the German ship may have been shelled.

The 6,660-ton Italian freighter Planona was added to the swift-mounting list of mine victims off England's southeast coast. The ship, badly holed by an explosion Tuesday night, was the sixteenth victim of mine or torpedo warfare in five days.

Another casualty was the 250-ton British trawler Delphine, sunk by a submarine. The crew was rescued.

Linked with these losses was a British news agency report that the 16,662-ton German liner Windhuk slipped out of Lobito bay, in Portuguese West Africa, to begin a raiding career.

The war was brought closer to home when wreckage, barrels of oil and other cargo thrown up on the east coast of Florida was tentatively identified by United States customs agents as coming from the German tanker Emmy Friedrick, overhauled in the Caribbean by a British cruiser October 24 and scuttled by her crew.

Sinkings reported today sent the known toll of all nations to 143 vessels with a total tonnage of 562,873. More than 2,000 persons have perished at sea since September 3.

LION KEEPER DIES

Philadelphia, Nov. 22 (AP) — John MacMullen, said to have been the oldest lion keeper in America, died Tuesday at the age of 75. For 52 of the Philadelphia zoo's 65 years — it's the oldest zoo in the country — MacMullen tended the lion house. He was injured once — by a caged leopard.

SCALPER

Lancaster, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP) — Benjamin Stoner, of Mountville, hunting ducks in Maryland Monday, was scalped from crown to forehead when he stood up in a blind just as a companion fired. Physicians said the charge did not penetrate Stoner's skull.

"RELIABLE PRESCRIPTIONS"

See that symbol at the bottom of this advertisement? You'll find it prominently displayed on our windows and in our Prescription Department.

What does it mean? Precisely what it says. Only selected stores are privileged to display this mark of distinction. It indicates that such an establishment maintains the highest ethical standards; that stocks are fresh and complete; that every prescription is filled by a competent, registered pharmacist; that service is excellent and prices are always fair.

NO FUNDS FOR SCHOOLS

Toledo, O., Nov. 22 (AP) — This was the last day of school until January 2 for 45,000 Toledo children. Financially embarrassed, the school board ended classes for six weeks to save expenses, including $400,000 in 1,300 teachers' salaries. "Most of the pupils are greatly disappointed at the closing," observed Superintendent E. L. Bowsher.

ATTACKS C.I.O. ACTION
Detroit, Nov. 22 (AP)—K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler corporation, charged today that the C.I.O. had organized shop foremen and supervisors in "a new effort to control production in the plants of the corporation." The effect of the new organization, Keller said, would be to place C.I.O. representatives in command of both sides of collective bargaining procedure. "In practice, C.I.O. people purporting to represent management would be bargaining with C.I.O. representatives of the employees," he said in a prepared statement.

PARTY IS HELD
A party held at the home of Miss

Tillie Roberts, 253 South Washington street, on Tuesday evening was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Thomas, Frances Roberts, and Robert McNeil and Mr. Grinnell, the last two being enrolled at the C.C.C. camp on the battlefield.

BEAR STEAK IN JAIL
Williamsport, Pa., Nov. 22 (AP)—County jail inmates already have had Thanksgiving dinner — bear steak. A hunter shot an undersized bear by mistake and turned it over to the game protector, who gave it to the jail. The hunter also turned over a $25 fine.

AN IMPORTANT DATE ON THE AMERICAN CALENDAR

THANKSGIVING

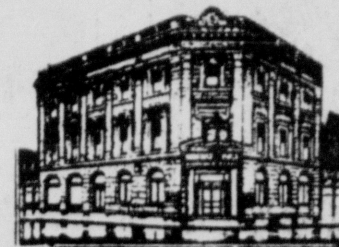

THANKSGIVING brings a host of happy thoughts to mind — it makes anyone feel good to reflect on the progress that this country has made since that first Thanksgiving Day 318 years ago. And to each of us individually, there is some one thing for which we can feel personally thankful.

THEN to make Thanksgiving one of the best holidays of the year, there's the happiness of the day — the relaxation, the fun... and the glorious feast. Turkey and all the trimmin's top off the day perfectly.

THE First National Bank of Gettysburg is joining in the general Thanksgiving — we, among other things, being thankful for a host of loyal friends and customers. May we wish every one of you an extremely pleasant holiday!
